Community
Chest Now Being Considered for Glendale

AT TODAY'S meeting of the Glendale Rotary club an enthusiastic endorsement was given to the Community Chest movement.

This endorsement by the Rotary club assures the success of the movement, for when a Rotarian votes to endorse any project he automatically promises his active support.

The action was taken after talks had been made by Dr. Warren Z. Newton and Burton H. McGinnis, both members of the Community Chest committee of the Glendale chamber of commerce.

THIS COMMITTEE made a very thorough and conscientious investigation of the Community Chests which are already in operation and reported that the communities, with a few exceptions, are well satisfied with the results obtained.

In the second editorial appearing in this column, which was on February 15, we heartily recommended this movement, after having made a fairly thorough investigation ourselves. Since that first editorial we have written several others along the same line.

IN FACT we harped on the subject so much that we thought we were probably boring our readers by covering the same subject so many times.

We hope our readers will coincide with our views regarding this move, not only in theory but in a practical way.

A Community Chest will prove beneficial to Glendale and its citizens in so many ways that it justifies much effort to put it over.

The latest drive for funds has thoroughly demonstrated the advisability of concentrating all drives in one.

WITH A CHEST in operation, when emergencies come up the rescue funds take care of them in quick order.

Japan would have Glendale's money if it could have been taken from the chest instead of the Red Cross and other agencies that have pledged funds and are having to worry over the difficulty of reaching the quota named for them to raise.

ALL IS QUIET AT THE CITY HALL; MANY ABSENT

Things are decidedly quiet at the city hall with the majority of city councilmen and some of the officials away on outings.

Councilman W. A. Horn has not returned from the north. Mayor Robinson is in Mexico and Councilman Davis, with the city engineer and city clerk is at San Diego attending sessions of the League of Municipalities. They are expected to return tonight or tomorrow.

The league program shows a wonderful array of subjects which should be of intense interest to city officials. One whole afternoon was reserved for consideration of city zoning and set-back lines. The Boulder dam project and its value to Los Angeles was to be presented and new legislation particularly with regard to changes in street improvement laws.

City Manager Reeves is quite envious of the opportunities of the delegates and says he hopes they will hear methods of correcting the abuses that have developed in special assessment cases like that on Los Feliz road.

He thinks they can be corrected only by legal amendments which will forbid the collection of attorney's fees and penalties, or else by the creation of municipal revolving funds which would enable cities to do the work. The last course, he thinks, would protect property owners and put the matter on a strictly cash basis, materially reducing the cost to the persons assessed. Under the present system, the contractor is financed usually by some loan company which exacts a heavy percentage, all of which has to be charged against the property owner—and the unpaid claims fall into the hands of attorneys who undertake to reap a harvest out of their collection.

HELD FOR EXAMINATION
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Six men arrested yesterday on charges of counterfeiting tickets for the Dempsey-Firpo fight were arraigned in court today and held for examination. Counsel for Tex Rickard told the court that $5,000 bogus tickets, most of them $5.50 and $7.50 varieties, had been printed.

Fight Returns, Blow by Blow, An Instant After Each Is Struck

BARCELONA IS IN FULL REVOLT AGAINST MADRID

Gen. Reviera Is Leader and Spanish Government Fearful

MADRID, Sept. 13.—After a cabinet meeting today the following statement was issued:
"The captain general of Barcelona last night proclaimed on his own responsibility a state of siege in this district, seized communications and invited other districts to support his action."

"In order to explain this step, he published a manifesto to the country declaring that the army called upon the sovereign to save pain and asking for the dismissal of the present ministers."

"In certain districts it appears the military forces are disposed to concur in this attitude of rebellion. The cabinet is in permanent session and will maintain its position, which it will abandon only under force should the promoters of this rebellion follow up their policy with all its consequences."

"The king will arrive in Madrid today."

MADRID, Sept. 13.—The government this afternoon telegraphed Captain General Primo Rivera at Barcelona, considered to be the leading spirit in the revolt movement, asking him to abandon his "attitude of rebellion." He replied with an unqualified denial of the request. The government thereupon decreed his demotion as military governor of Barcelona.

MADRID, Sept. 13.—Army officers at Barcelona have revolted and martial law has been declared. The rank and file of the army have joined the revolt but the navy personnel is quiet.

BARCELONA, Sept. 13.—A state of siege was proclaimed here at 11:15 o'clock this morning and the Catalan military authorities took possession of power in the city.

It is stated here that several garrisons, notably those in Madrid, Saragossa and Seville, have adhered to the military movement which now must be recognized as a regular coup d'etat.

The normal life of Barcelona is proceeding.

It is reported that Santiago Alba, minister of foreign affairs, is under arrest at Sebastian.

Admiral Coontz Says Destroyers Off Course

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Admiral Coontz, commander of the United States fleet, reported to the navy department today that NO adequate explanation has been given for the unusual position of the seven American destroyers when they were wrecked on the California coast Saturday night. He declared the squadron was far off its prescribed course and was steaming in a fog at 20 knots.

TWO DESTROYERS ADDITIONAL IN RECENT WRECK

Sommers and Farragut Limp Into San Diego, Badly Damaged

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 13.—Nine destroyers, instead of seven, as first reported, ran on the rocks at Point Arguello Saturday night, it was learned today.

The Sommers and the Farragut limped into port here during the night, badly crippled, pumps working to keep water out of their hulls and with tales of their thrilling escape from the fate that overtook their sister ships of the destroyer flotilla.

The two destroyers that escaped, damaged, from the peril of the rocks, were following in single file the seven that piled up.

Ploughing through the seas at the rate of 20 knots an hour on the fatal night, the lookout for the Farragut perceived something had gone wrong with the vessels ahead. "Man overboard" was his instinctive cry and, acting on standing instructions to destroyer fleets in battle formation, the Sommers and Farragut veered off to the right and left in order not to hit the man they believed to be in the water. It was this action that saved the vessels and probably the lives of the crews. However, the pilots were not quick enough to avoid the impending danger ahead of them and the Farragut collided with the Fuller, one of the vessels now left to die on the rocks, while the Sommers hit another vessel, which the crew believes to be the ill-fated Young. The Young later crashed and is believed to contain within its hold the 19 seamen still missing.

Another distinctive feature of the Daily Press service is that fact that our guests will hear the bulletins announced ahead of any other service for this reason. The Associated Press, as the outstanding feature of its many unparalleled facilities for speedy broadcasting, blow for blow, the returns of boxing contests, is that it has in its employ a telegraph operator who is said to be the only one in the world known to transmit each blow struck as he sees it from the ringside without the necessity of an editor having to first write it out for him. Think of the saving in time of this unique method, where every second is precious. So, on a slender wire stretching 3000 miles from the very edge of the 24-foot ring directly into the Daily Press office, the words fly with the lightning speed. It is as if the eager listeners to the reading of the bulletins were actually spectators, for they almost see each blow as it is struck, through the eyes and by the magic finger touch of this wizard operator.

The preliminary bouts opens at eight o'clock and the Dempsey-Firpo contest at ten. New York daylight saving time, which means 4 and 6 o'clock in Glendale. The stage will be set for the hearing of the bulletins by Daily Press patrons at that time and when the first blow is struck they will "see it" almost instantly by the lightning touch of the operator's finger.

A few pleasing numbers will be interspersed between readings of the bulletins, as the rounds end.

The Polo Grounds in New York will be jammed to suffocation long before the event opens tomorrow evening, as the more than a million dollars' worth of tickets have been sold already, according to Tex Rickard. Many eager fans in other cities have been duped into buying counterfeit tickets.

Both the fighters seem to be in the pink of condition and a desperate contest lasting the full fifteen rounds is predicted by many, though such an eminent sport writer as Henry Farrell says he would not be surprised if Dempsey wins in six rounds.

It is Dempsey's science and shrewd planning against Firpo's bull-like strength and wild rushes. Even the most astute fight expert may have all his calculations upset by some unthought-of freak of the "Bull of the Pampas."

MAN AND WOMAN TAKEN, FORFEIT BAIL AND LEAVE

The blotter of the police department this morning was singularly devoid of news. A man and woman who had been turned out of one of the local hotels were reported and arrested and brought to headquarters about 11 o'clock Wednesday night. The man, who gave his name as A. J. Ridell, was lodged in the city jail and his woman companion, who was booked as Mrs. Vera Danley, was taken to Central station, Los Angeles. Both were to appear before Judge Lowe today, but the $50 bail which each put up this morning they agreed to forfeit rather than appear before the judge and they were released with the city $100 richer.

There will be plenty of seats for all. Ladies specially invited.

MONSTER DISTRICT ROUNDUP OF BOY SCOUTS

Great news for boys and their parents has just been announced from the Verdugo Hills district office of the Boy Scouts of America. A monster district roundup of all Boy Scouts and their parents to which the general public is also invited, is scheduled for Saturday afternoon and evening, September 29 at La Crescenta in Los Robles Verdes (the green oaks).

The district roundup is being sponsored by the troop leaders' round table, who are being aided and encouraged in putting over this big affair by the Verdugo Hills Boy Scout council.

It is thought that many new features will be added to the program following the meeting of a special committee held Saturday evening, September 15 at the district scout office. This committee is headed by H. B. Robinson, the chairman, and chief counselor of the troop leaders' round table, together with Hal E. Leedom, W. L. Walker, E. B. Thomas, Leo L. Lang, A. C. Cox and Fred Schnoor.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., will be the guest of honor and star attraction if the present plans carry through. Douglas is a first class scout is one of the Pasadena troops and is very much interested in scouting.

Los Robles Verdes is a most ideal place to hold the roundup, according to Scout Executive Harold F. Benner, who has made several trips to it recently. It is through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Robinson that the scouts were extended the use of these beautiful grounds.

The program will officially begin at 3 o'clock in the afternoon when scouts from the entire district will be organized into two large groups to play the thrilling game of "Capture the Flag." Varied and unique contests will be in order among the scouts following the flag game, and it is thought by those having the program in charge that "movies" will be taken of the scouts in action.

Everybody will be expected to bring a picnic dinner which may be eaten under "the green oaks," which furnish a most pleasurable natural setting. A mothers' and a fathers' chorus is to be organized and these will vie with each other for melodic honors.

EXCHANGE CLUB RAISES $100 FOR RELIEF FUND

Express Interest in Community Band, Hears Dr. Harrower

One of the big things done by members of the Glendale Exchange club at their noonday meeting Wednesday was a vote to raise $100 for the Red Cross fund for Japanese earthquake victims. The $50 of which was subscribed on the C. C. Coughlin agreed to be a committee of five to see other members not present.

The other big thing was a unanimous endorsement of the community chest idea as presented by Dr. Warren Z. Newton, who stated he had returned from San Francisco with renewed enthusiasm for the project. When he asked men assembled at a meeting he attended there what they thought of the community chest they threw their hats in the air in their enthusiasm, declaring it was one of the best things they ever did, urging him "for heaven's sake, sell it to Glendale."

A letter was read from Ernest Tucker, director of Community Service, relative to the Community Service fund and its progress, stating that it would be prepared to give a concert under the patronage of the Exchange club about the 15th of October.

Various members expressed their interest in the band and the willingness as a club to provide sheet music for it but not otherwise to assume any financial responsibilities.

Dr. Harrower reported concerning the newly organized Exchange club and retold the story which made a representative from Glendale, Dr. Harrower, said: "It would be a courteous thing if we would get into a machine and go over there to lunch today and give them the aid. Others endorsed the agreed to accompany the doctor."

Frank Music was introduced as the guest of Dr. Harrower, and "Dixie" of the Packard agency, as the guest of George Whitaker, vice-president of the club.

The drawing for the attendance prize was made. To the prize of two tickets to the Cantor concert to be given on September 22, day afternoon club.

The question of a meeting place was discussed. The club voted to meet at the Egyptian Village cafe, a feature of the as a circulation among in old lease executed in property in the south of written upon a large parchment paper. It is of Dr. Harrower.

DR. KHAN OF INDIA SEEKS HEALTH AID IN AMERICA

"Massachusetts spends more on her efforts to control tuberculosis than is spent in the entire public health budget of the Indian government." This is the statement of Dr. Saranjam Khan, of the Medical Department of North West Frontier Province, Peshawar, India. Dr. Khan and Capt. H. G. D. Mathur, of Jalpur City, Rajputana, India, who are accompanying him from India, visited the American Child Health association in this city to seek information as to the methods and progress made by the association in its efforts to promote better health conditions among the children of this country. Both men were selected by the Indian government as members of a party of five who are attending schools in this country. Dr. Khan is attending the Harvard school of Public Health and Captain Mathur is enrolled at the Johns Hopkins school of Public Health.

"Of course," said Dr. Khan, "in making this comparison, one must bear in mind that in addition to the Indian government, there are health provisions in the provincial budgets which help to swell the total fund. And while India is making progress in public health, the lack of education and adequate funds are the great drawbacks. In America your problem of illiteracy is very small; in India it is tremendously large. It has been estimated that only about half of the children of school age attend schools and that illiteracy is about 90 per cent—both rough estimates. This places a very distinct limitation on the activities of the public health officials."

"In matters of finance, too, the limitations are fully as great. Where the cinema might be used to teach health lessons, films are very expensive—too much so to be of practical value; and many other methods which you in America use would be impractical for us."

"While religious belief among certain groups tends against the killing of living creatures of any sort—which would tend to be a serious drawback in fighting certain vermin-borne epidemics—Dr. Khan and Capt. Mathur were agreed that this opposition is being overcome."

"It is a question of making the people see that duty lies with the living," he said, "and then—unless they are fatalists—the cure will be found. Dr. Khan and Capt. Mathur, following their visit to various health organizations in this city, are to spend some time in the southern states studying health problems and their treatment."

"CONSTITUTION WEEK" SET FOR SEPT. 16 TO 22

Miss Ida Myers of this city as curator of the American ship and Legislative Section Tuesday afternoon club, attention to "Constitution Week" to be observed September 16 to 22, throughout the nation. Of this movement she says:

"Among the cooperative organizations are Constitution week association, American Association, National Association, Constitutional Government, American Security league, American Society, Sons of the Revolution, American Teacher-association, American Women's clubs. The committee of the Bar association has a program was to assist teachers to preach the first amendment—test not the ancient law; fathers have said 22:28. So I have asked teachers of Glendale to message to their class Sunday, Sept. 16, at much pleased with responses already received. I ordered a phone a month ago, but no sign of it yet."

Builders' Exchange Meets Friday Night

A regular meeting of the Builders' exchange of Glendale will be held Friday night at the Exchange quarters, 113 North Maryland avenue. As this is the first meeting in over a month due to previous meetings having been dispensed with, one in respect to the memory of President Harding, another on account of the activities incident to the three-day celebration of the local Elks lodge, it is expected that the attendance will be large. Considerable routine business is to be transacted, a number of applications for membership are to be considered, and a program for the fall and winter activities of the association discussed. Interested parties are welcome at this meeting which will commence at 8 o'clock.

SEVEN OF BLUE BEARD'S 8 WIVES HANG IN EFFIGY

Hanging the seven wives of Bluebeard for scenes in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" proved to be a costly operation for the Paramount West Coast studio.

Conceded to be one of the most remarkable scenes in the picture is that when Gloria Swanson, the star, dreams the fable that has lived for ages, of Bluebeard, who took his wives to a dark chamber, where he hanged them, one by one.

Seven of the most beautiful girls in Hollywood are seen as the seven wives in the modernized version of the ancient fable, which was adapted to the screen by Sada Cowan from the play by Alfred Savoir, and which comes to the Gateway theater today.

When it was necessary to make the scenes of the seven wives hanging by their necks, Director Sam Wood became thoughtful. Hanging seven girls is a ticklish affair, for a slip might mean serious injury to one of them.

Not desiring to risk the lives of the girls, Mr. Wood engaged Milba K. Lloyd, celebrated English sculptress, who made a wax model of each. These models were used in the hanging scenes, but were so like the originals that the difference could not be distinguished and since it was a vision Miss Swanson was having—they did as well as the originals would have done.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS WILL HOLD SOCIAL

A royal good time is in store for the members and their friends of Glendale Camp No. 8938 Royal Neighbors of America, tomorrow night, for this camp has scheduled an old-time social to be held in the hall located at the corner of Brand boulevard and Park avenue.

Dancing and games will be the feature part of the evening, refreshments will be served, members of the Modern Woodmen of America of which society the Royal Neighbors is the sister auxiliary, are especially invited, and the friends of both societies are welcome. This marks the forerunner of many similar events to be held during the coming fall and winter months, and it is the hope of the committee in charge that the same will be well attended, for upon the showing thus made depends in part, the activities for the future.

Organized but a few years ago, Camp No. 8938 has made good strides. Its officers are active in the field of fraternity and sisterly love, the society offers the best possible insurance at the lowest cost consistent with reliability, and the many other advantages accruing from membership are well worth having.

Strangers interested are welcome Friday night, the Recorder, Mrs. J. E. Howard, of 1122 East Elk street, as well as any other officer or member, are at all times willing to meet interested parties, and all present on Friday night are assured a genuine good time.

KU KLUXES NOW INVADE MEXICO

[By Associated Press] MEXICO CITY, Sept. 13.—The Ku Klux Klan has appeared in Mexico, but thus far has confined its activities to visits to newspaper offices and to writing communications to the press. The klansmen wear black robes and hoods and are chary with words, emphasizing their arguments with pistol flourishes. Their only entrance into public affairs has been a campaign conducted at Tacubaya, a suburb.

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

James Smith of Los Angeles has begun the erecting of a three-story building on his property on Michigan avenue, near Los Angeles avenue. The building will be of brick construction. Two stores will have 16-foot frontage and the other 25-foot. This corner of Michigan and Los Angeles avenues is the original town site of La Crescenta. The terminal of the Glendale and Montrose railway created a small business section at Honolulu and Los Angeles avenues. A much traveled district is fast developing into another business center. The extension of the Glendale and Montrose railway to Montrose and Pennsylvania avenues has been the direct cause of much development in this territory. Two new subdivisions and many improvements are being planned for Honolulu and Pennsylvania avenues in the near future.

Earl Rider, superintendent of the Crescenta Mutual Water company, returned yesterday from a short stay at San Diego. Mr. Rider motored down with a party of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Jackson returned to their home in Los Angeles Tuesday after a delightful visit with Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Burt of 256 West Honolulu avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Haskins and children of East Prospect avenue returned Tuesday from a short vacation at Oceanside.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jones motored to San Diego and the Imperial Valley for a short stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Brown of 135 Hermosa avenue are entertaining their niece, Miss Rachel Brown of New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Bain, who sold their home a year ago and went to Seattle to live, returned to California recently and will again make La Crescenta their home.

LEGION NEWS

For God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to the principles of the Preamble to the Constitution of the American Legion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Assignments of hotels to the various state delegations and parties of visitors coming to the fifth annual national convention of the American Legion, October 15 to 19, have been definitely made by the local convention committee; and announcement has been made by Police Chief Daniel J. O'Brien, chairman of the hotel-housing committee, that ample accommodations will be available for all visiting Legionnaires, and members of the Auxiliary and other veterans' societies coming here in October. All of the hotels to which delegations are being allocated are situated within a few short blocks of the Civic Auditorium, where the business sessions of the Legion's national convocation are to take place.

Being ideally supplied with a large number of hotels and other means of caring for visitors, San Francisco's facilities for the parking of Pullman cars are somewhat limited; the Marina space where 125 cars will be parked during the national convention, was booked up solid several months ago. Two big city blocks, equipped with piping, sanitation, showers and other conveniences, are being set aside for an automobile camp; the area being located alongside of the Fort Mason military reservation, overlooking the inner harbor of San Francisco and within a few minutes' ride of the Civic Auditorium.

The annual reunion of the 91st Division, "California's own" fighting outfit, which received its baptism of fire in the Argonne offensive of the summer of 1918, will be held here October 13 and 14; with several thousands of members of that association present. The entertainment program for the American Legion's convention is to start October 13, and will continue for eight solid days and nights.

Institution of a ladies' branch of the "Forty and Eighties," named the "Eight and Forties" (La Societe 8 Chapeau et 40 Femme) will be one of the features of the national convention entertainment program. Five hundred lady legionnaires and Auxiliary members will be initiated into the women's "playground" society, on Wednesday evening, October 16. The following night, two thousand "goofs" will be inducted into the "Forty and Eighties," the male Legionnaires' playground organization.

SLIM JOHNSON WRITES SONG FOR EXCHANGE CLUB

A new song for the Glendale Exchange Club has been written by R. E. (Slim) Johnson of the Concrete Brick and Tile Company, 440 South San Fernando road. It runs as follows:

"Put away your books and papers, Luncheon time has come, Work is over, business ended, now the fun's begun, Finding all the joys of friendship, helping where we can, Unity for Service is our motto and our plan."

Chorus
"So, like good Exchangeites coming, coming here today, Forth we come with shouts of gladness, singing of our way. 'Tis a very good place to be, nothing like it for you and me. As we all come together here in Unity."

—Tune—Home Going Song.
Many an innocent youth has taken a young widow's hand and prattled of love, in a spirit of fun, only to find himself facing the parson with her later.

REHEARSALS FOR 'PETTICOAT LANE' ARE PROGRESSING

Rehearsals for "Petticoat Lane," a musical comedy to be staged by the local De Molays, are progressing in fine shape, according to Paul Morgan, master counselor of the chapter. "Petticoat Lane" will be presented at the Tuesday Afternoon club auditorium on October 1 and 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Denni, who have staged productions for De Molays all over the United States, are directing "Petticoat Lane," and have already secured a large and capable cast from the younger set of the city. The production is being given for the purpose of raising funds for the treasury of the Glendale De Molay chapter, and to pay off the debt under which the chapter is now laboring.

Because the Masonic temple is in use every night, rehearsals there are impossible. Last night the cast gathered in the auditorium of the Press building for rehearsal. Because the auditorium will be in use nearly every night, future rehearsals will be held at the High school. This evening the auditorium of the High school has been secured. Rehearsals will be carried on either here or in other parts of the building in the future.

DR. P. O. LUCAS AND FAMILY ARE HOME FROM THE SOUTH

Dr. and Mrs. P. O. Lucas and family of 720 South Maryland avenue have returned from an extended trip in the southern states. Mrs. Lucas and family left here early in July and Dr. Lucas visited them the first of August. They joined them Winchester and other parts of Kentucky, also Tennessee, Oklahoma, Danville and other points of interest, where they were guests of friends and relatives.

Dr. Lucas states that he did not find things very progressive in the south, nothing like the west. However, he says they are having good crops. He was glad to get back to Glendale and is busy receiving his patients at 1243 South Brand boulevard.

Expert Optometrist Helps the Children

The time has arrived when the children will be called upon to do their hardest work, and it is very necessary that their eyes have proper attention. Defective eyesight has caused many a child to lag in its studies and fall because parents neglected to have the child's eyes taken care of. When it is necessary to fit the child with glasses an expert should do this, as poor glasses often do more harm than good, or even ruin the eyes of the child. Ed N. Radke, optometrist, 109-B South Brand, is a graduate of some of the best schools in the country and has made a specialty of examining children's eyes and fitting them properly. His work is the best and his charges are very reasonable.

TOO MUCH FREEDOM

Freedom of the press is being grossly abused. The remedy is not obvious. There might be estoppel of the press of letters were the public to decline to tolerate their output. This is a condition apparently beyond hope. The public seems ready to "try anything once." The personnel of the public is changing constantly. The attacks upon its morals appear in new form. If one effort to debauch morals, and outrage good taste, fails, the succession of efforts must have appreciable effect.

There comes to hand a new magazine. It appears on the news stand. It has a rather attractive cover, in no manner betraying the lewdness within. Thus the chance that it may be purchased by the innocent. The name of the indecency is not given here, because this would incite purchase of the abomination. The magazine is totally without literary merit. It bespeaks rottenness of soul, decadence of intellect; a wild striving to be unique in the method of purveying off.

The cubist in art may be a jester or a fool. His product is folly made visible, but he may have the fun of seeing it accepted as the product of an artist having a meaning and a purpose. People are gingerly about giving a verdict in relation to that which they do not understand, fearing to appear ridiculous. In the magazine in question the writers have sought to transfer the absurdity of the cubist to the printed page. The error in this is that people able to read, recognize the fool for what it is. Colors daubed on a canvas may bewilder them, but ink on paper has no secrets. It reveals the squalid and unkempt degenerate.

This magazine might pass as the message sent out by a lot of lunatics granted the privilege of amusing themselves with pens. If freedom of the press gives it license to continue, then there is such a thing as too much freedom.

TELLING ABOUT COOLIDGE

Announcements as to the intention of President Coolidge, in relation to this question or that, come with frequency. A point that should not be overlooked is that they do not come from the gentleman himself. The privilege of putting words into the mouth of the executive is being employed with a freedom more than generous.

The President has said that he intended to follow the Harding policies. Doubtless he spoke with sincerity, but he spoke when sorrowing for the death of his friend. How time and circumstances may modify his views, there is no way of knowing. That a man has a right to change his mind is too plain a fact to be denied. A mind incapable of receiving impressions, and thus adapting itself to environment would not be much of a mind. It would be the shadow of the mind of another.

Mr. Roosevelt thought in the beginning that his course had been shaped by Mr. McKinley, but it had not. He shaped his own course. Without any respect to the memory of the late President, it may be assumed that the Coolidge course will be the result of his personal beliefs, and not be a heritage from his predecessor. The late President was in favor of a world court. Perhaps President Coolidge will be in favor of such a tribunal. If so, it will be because of his personal conviction. Whatever opinion may be entertained of the President, there is no likelihood that he will be but an echo, or that his decisions will be other than those reached by himself after due consideration.

CONTROLLING THE ELEMENTS

In the region of totality of the eclipse, observers were deeply disappointed by getting an imperfect view or no view. A little farther north, where the eclipse was partial, the skies were clear.

Some hopeful folk entertain the notion that some day climatic conditions will be subject to human control. The most hopeful will have to admit that there are no signs of it yet. No device yet visioned even dimly will be able to prevent the presence of clouds. In this respect the race is as helpless as it would be in arranging the date of an eclipse. There still exists the stern necessity of taking things as Nature provides. And nature, albeit free of all emotions, does at times seem inclined to jocularly. It is as though in ponderous fashion, it were inclined to play with mortals, showing them how puny they still are.

The scientists who had made elaborate preparations to record and study the sun, or its corona, when the orb had been lost in shadow, are a patient lot of gentlemen. They are wise enough to accept the inevitable, if not with a smile, at least without protest, which they know would be futile. They will turn to new tasks and try to forget a really bitter disappointment.

One special reason for interest in the solar phenomenon was the desire to test the Einstein theory. The public had desired such a test and a decision. Not that the public really knows what the Einstein theory is, but it has heard so much, that it thinks it has a right to be interested.

Well, in 122 years there will be another total eclipse in the same area.

THE NAVAL DISASTER

The loss of naval ships, if unaccompanied by loss of life, would not have been particularly serious. The navy has many ships of the type idle and deteriorating at San Diego. When not in service naval craft quickly reach the stage of ineffectiveness. The loss of life, however, was most lamentable. The loss of prestige, in the absence of some cause beyond human regulation, would be regretted. The navy may be supposed to have highly efficient navigating officers. Doubtless there will be a rigid investigation.

That the ships were the victims of a mysterious current is not an improbable supposition. The waters hereabouts have been singularly troubled at intervals ever since the earthquake in Japan. Ships have been met by waves of unprecedented height, and if caught near the shore, easily might have been destroyed. Swells at the harbor in San Pedro have wrought considerable havoc. They came with a force that readily could have tossed craft of any tonnage ashore had it been in a precarious position.

These wrecks, together with that of a marine vessel, brought out the inevitable fact that each succeeding disaster develops instances of heroism. Many of the men in these cases had no chance even to help themselves, but those to whom fell the opportunity of risking life to save others, were ready for the test. Their bravery makes Americans proud, and accentuates the general respect for the courageous men who go down to the sea in ships.

In summer, when other people are indulging in outings, the baseball player devotes his time and attention to innings.

Some people never succeed in finding out which side of their bread is buttered until they let it fall.

What Is Superstition

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

"Oh ye who tread the narrow way
By Tophet's flare to judgment day
Be gentle when the 'heaven' pray
To Buddha at Kamakura."

Aye, especially when the prayer is uttered because the earth rocks beneath the feet, the winds drive the sea over tattering houses, and lightning and fire combine to strike terror into every living thing.

The cataclysm in Japan is the greatest tragedy in the recorded history of man. Is it any wonder that the maddened multitudes rushed to the feet of the great Buddha in Kamakura and begged for mercy?

"Superstition" the foreign correspondents called this and one wonders if, given the same conditions of terrors and helplessness, those foreign correspondents would not themselves have called on any symbol of higher power that they might in the stress of the moment recognize.

One does not have to be a Buddhist to sympathize with the call of a Buddhist to the most majestic symbol of power in repose that the mind of man has conceived or the hand of man has made since time was.

When earth and sky and home and every stable thing about one's feet fall one the soul goes out automatically seeking help from something outside and above the things that are crumbling. We call it God and represent it by no symbol save such childish ideas as we may have formed of the God of Israel.

The Buddhist does not call it Buddha for indeed the Prince Gautama never claimed to be God or the prophet of God. He only claimed to show men the way to unite their conscientiousness with the soul which is the source of every life. No doubt many Buddhists have come to confuse the "Buddha" with God; but to one who has seen the majestic figure at Kamakura the feeling of unbounded reverence that it inspires can easily be understood, that is unless one is hopelessly blinded by religious intolerance.

The great Buddha has sat enthroned in his circle of green hills surrounded by blossoming cherry trees since 1492 the year that Columbus discovered America. The storms of the centuries have raged around his head three times, his temples have crumbled under earthquake shocks, fire has taken them from above his head, his people have died by the tens of thousands; but his presence has never been disturbed. His spiritual calm is as everlasting as the forces that crush men and destroy their works.

Majestic to the last degree the Great Buddha, which the Japanese call the Daibutsu, stood alone, unshaken, undamaged when Kamakura crumbled beneath the assault of wind and sea and earth shock and fire. It was the sole thing steady in a heaving world, the one thing lasting, defying fire and wave and crashing rocks.

And back of it was the tradition, the history, the love and the loyalty of Japan. That unmovable bronze figure could save no one; but to the terrified people it stood for the only reality that can save, the everlasting, unmovable calm behind all change.

And so they prayed, kneeling at the huge bronze base of the mighty figure. And the aliens scoffed. Yet the Japanese came to the feet of the Buddha as the stricken deer in the forest fires of California come to men. It was the call of the helpless to something that might help, to a symbol if you will, but to a symbol that somehow has been made by its creators to stand for an abiding stability above and beyond cataclysm, tempest, fire and flood.

"Oh, ye who tread the narrow way
Be gentle when the 'heaven' pray
To Buddha at Kamakura."

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

I am as sure as I am of anything in this life that my Aunt Mary died of hate. She used to be a hale and hearty woman. A shade too intense, perhaps, and too determined to have her way. But as strong and healthy as a woman could be. Then she fell out with her father-in-law.

"I've fixed things, Mary," he used to speak, "so you and John'll not get a golden cent."

He didn't die of hate, the old scorpion. He liked nothing better than to pester Mary. Her blood used to boil, as she said, and with some reason, for John's work had saved the old man's little fortune. Mary would lie awake nights and hate the old man. She talked of nothing else toward the last. She grew scrawny and lead-colored and emaciated.

"Hating sets up a pestilence humor in the blood," some old writer once said.

When the old man died with a saturnine chuckle Mary almost collapsed from sheer, vicious, ungoverned hatred. It was intensified when they read the will, and discovered that every penny had been left "to my beloved son and his wife Mary."

The thought that the old man had had the last laugh was too much for her. She took to her bed.

The doctors tell me that it is quite possible for hate to kill. Most of the elder ones can cite instances in which hate did kill. Mrs. Pilgrim says I'm soft and easy going, but I am sure of one thing. I'll never be so foolish as to give way to hate.

THE LISTENING POST

By JAMES W. FOLEY

The marvelous thing after all is not that there should be an eclipse.
That is a perfectly natural and understandable thing.

For if you hold an opaque substance between you and the light, you will shut out the light.

So if you intrude an opaque moon between the sun and the earth you shut out the light of the sun to a great extent.

Thus an eclipse is a perfectly natural and understandable thing.

Like a radiant dawn.
Or a sunset.

With this difference.
Mathematicians and astronomers can tell you to the minute and second when the eclipse will take place.

Weather is a variable thing.
Tomorrow may be hot or cold.
Clear or cloudy.

Rainy or not.
There is no means of saying exactly or positively.

But the movement of planets and solar bodies in our solar system is an immutable thing.

A definite thing.
A certain thing.

Astronomers have calculated position and speed.

At a certain time on a certain day the sun will stand at a certain place with reference to the earth or the moon.

Or perhaps it would be better to put it another way.

That the earth and the moon will stand at a certain position with reference to the sun.

For the sun is fixed and immovable.
The earth and the moon are movable.
One circling the sun at a high rate of speed.
And the other circling the earth.

And the astronomer can tell you again just where any other planet will be at a certain minute and second.

By mathematical calculations which are too abstruse for most of us.

The calculations of minds highly and accurately trained.

And the exactitude and definiteness of those calculations is the marvelous thing about this eclipse business.

To be able to say years before that at a certain hour and a certain minute and a certain second, the shadow of the moon will begin to fall between the sun and the earth.

That certain regions of the earth will be in the path of totality.

That certain regions will be in partial totality.

And to tell us to the fraction of a mile or yard or foot just where those places are.

That is after all the marvel of the eclipse.

The intelligence of man that has solved the problem of distance and directions and revolutions and orbits and shadows through the universe.

To say that at a certain minute a shadow will fall on the Aleutian Islands.

At a certain minute on the shores of California.

At a certain minute and second on the coast line of Mexico.

The direction of the intelligence of man toward these problems is the marvelous thing.

The eclipse of itself, impressive and wonderful as it may seem, is no more wonderful than the falling of a flake of snow in obedience to natural forces.

Songs of the Poets

Late Wisdom—By George Crabbe

We've trod the maze of error round
Long wandering in the winding glade;
And now the torch of truth is found,
It only shows us where we strayed:
By long experience taught, we know—
Can rightly judge of friends and foes;
Can all the worth of these allow,
And all the faults discern in those.

Now, 'tis our boast that we can quell
The wildest passions in their rage,
Can their destructive force repel,
And their impetuous wrath assuage—
Ah, Virtue! does thou arm when now
This bold rebellious race are fled?
When all these tyrants rest, and thou
Art warring with the mighty dead?

THE REAL BASIS OF INTERNATIONALISM

By DR. FRANK CRANE

IT IS pretty generally recognized by those who are capable of thinking of all that Internationalism of some sort is the way out. The world faces Internationalism or Chaos.

The reason for this is a simple one. It is that the progress of mankind is a growth. The human race is an organism. It is a living thing. And it is a rule of living things that they must go on continually toward greater perfection of organization or break down by disease or decay.

There is no stopping place. When progress ceases ruin steps in. When Rome stopped expanding the barbarian began invading.

We are rather squarely up against the issue at present of combining into some soft of an international government that shall prevent wars and stop the building of rival navies, or on the other hand continuing to spend our surplus production in wasteful contention with a possibility of blowing up the whole works at some unfortunate moment.

The Socialists, Communists, and similar theorists whose main hope for humanity seems to lie in a better distribution of goods are almost all Internationalists. Those who advocate the League of Nations are Internationalists.

Every business man who has grown enough to realize that the prosperity of his own locality depends upon the prosperity of the rest of the world, is an Internationalist.

In fact, almost everyone is an Internationalist except the Bourbons, the Chauvinists, the Cynics, the Job Holders, the Reactionaries and the Blatherskites.

All intelligent patriots are Internationalists because intelligent patriotism is a passion for making one's country best serve the world, while blind patriotism, septic and dangerous patriotism, is the desire to keep one's country isolated from the rest of the world or to have one's country dominate the world.

But the thing that we must not lose sight of is that a lasting and wholesome Internationalism cannot come by mere machinery, but must be the outgrowth of an international spirit.

Toward the strengthening of this spirit every effort is valuable that induces men to place the claims of humanity above the claims of city, state and nation.

Travel helps. If the whole passport nuisance could be abolished all over the world it would be of enormous benefit to the race.

Commerce helps. Every steamship that crosses the ocean, every railway that passes a boundary, and every aeroplane that ignores territorial divisions is working away to build up the great ideal that shall dominate the future, to wit, that all human interests everywhere are interdependent.

But perhaps the most important force that is laying the spiritual foundations for a world organization is Christianity, especially that form of it which is found operating among missionaries.

I have been all over the world and met all kinds of people; I have heard senators and deputies and parliamentarians declaim! I have talked with statesmen and diplomats and know something of their activities; I have met professors in universities and read their books! I have heard soap box orators on the street; I have listened to preachers and attended the rites of priests; I have perused the writings of the literary gentry who scorn the commons and expose their polished sentences only in high class magazines; in fact, I have stirred about the world considerably, and my judgment is that no class of people are doing more to prepare humanity for an intelligent Internationalism than the Christian missionaries who are working steadily away inculcating into the minds of the vast multitude just entering upon civilization the broad, warm humanitarian truths of Jesus.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

THE IMMIGRATION PROBLEM

[St. Paul Pioneer Press]

Members of congress pretty nearly agree that the immigration policy is wrong, but few of them agree upon what should be done to make it right. Senators looking at the situation disclosed by their European investigations think the 3 per cent quota should be preserved, but the 1890 census should be taken so that we might get more desirable immigrants from northern and western Europe; but representatives at home insist that all can be done is to reduce the quota to 2 per cent without further change of the law.

In other words, members of both houses clearly are ready to compromise with wrong, rather than go to the heart of the subject and get right. The present law was a manifest stop-gap, clumsily aimed at checking the rising tide of immigration and an illogical, heartless and unsatisfactory solution of the problem. Concededly wrong, why compromise with it?

Some day a sensible congress, uninfluenced by the clamor now heard on both sides, will formulate a selective system of admitting immigrants so that we will get the kind we want and shut out the undesirable. It may be over-optimistic to predict such a congress and such a policy, but at least we can go along hoping for both.

THE WAY OF MAN

[New York World]

Dr. Wilfred H. Osgood of the Field Museum of Natural History has discovered a hitherto unknown animal on an island off the coast of Chile, and already there is a movement on foot to arrange an expedition to exterminate it.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Something has been said in the news columns of this paper about a trip taken by the newspaper men of southern California, and son from the central section, to the region where the Southern-California Edison company is engaged in a stupendous work.

The effort to compress an account of that journey into a single article of moderate length might as well be abandoned in advance.

Probably new people of the state realize that the project calls for an expenditure equal to that required to construct the Panama canal. An army of 5000 men is engaged in the valley of the San Joaquin. It approaches the ideal as an industrial organization. Every official and every man there seems to glory in his work. He feels a pride in being a unit in a project so vast.

To carry material to the place of activity it will be necessary to build many miles of railway. This is an engineering triumph. Doubtless, it is the cross-est road over which locomotives run. It rests on a glacial formation solid as anything that geology knows. Beyond the end of the rail extends an automobile highway. Some of this was built at a cost of $150,000 a mile. At one point it runs along the side of a declivity, the bottom of which runs the dashing San Joaquin. With the opposite declivity, which it joins at an acute angle, forming a monstrous letter V, this mighty chasm had been carved by the gigantic glacier of ages ago, as it moved, slow, resistless, with a force that can be but faintly imagined. Modern machinery accomplishes wonders. On the side of this chasm its great machines, tearing into the rocks, seem veritable insects compared with what the glacier must have been.

That men are but children older grown is sure to be demonstrated on such a trip. Here were those engaged in a serious project, anxious to learn, that they might express themselves with knowledge. They were the guests of engineers, farmers, the world that southern California was to be the very center of world electric development. All this impressed them. Yet in the moments of relaxation they all roared familiar, rollicking songs. They sang burst of sound. They listened to humorous stories and laughed till they cried. They got up impromptu matches. They went on the lake whooping and splashing like so many kids. They were eager to crowd in front of the camera. They made jokes about each others' bald heads or abundant whiskers. They ate like hired men, trousers so that modesty forced him to stand back to the wall, laughter became a riot.

There was a dinner, a courtesy of the Fresno chamber of commerce. That was Monday. The day had been hot in the valley, and Fresno was far from chill. The dinner was in a beautiful suburban clubhouse. Right then and there Fresno won approbation. Al C. Joy presided. "It's hot here. We know it and are glad of it," he said. "Gentlemen, take off your coats."

Fresno is prosperous. There is every sign of it. The weather is part of the basis of its prosperity, bringing forth abundance. The local speakers poked a little fun at Los Angeles, but it was good natured. For one thing they wanted it understood the Huntington Lake was not a Los Angeles suburb. And it isn't several hundred miles.

Every editor who went came back with more knowledge than he had taken with him, and a broader conception of the sort of state in which he lives.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

Tell the Teacher

The last thing a mother likes to do is to tell strangers that her child has any sort of defect. Instinctively she covers up the child's weakness and keeps his best side out for the outsider.

But the teacher is not an outsider. On the contrary she is very much of an insider. As soon as she takes over the training of your child she becomes, in a rather large way, your partner. You keep very few secrets from her, reluctant though you may be.

She knows whether or not your house is run efficiently; she knows that you are sympathetic toward the child's failures or not; she knows what sort of manners you have, although she may never have seen you. She knows your moral code better than you do. She knows you through that best of all mediums, your youngsters. The longer she stays with the child the more she knows of him and you.

Then isn't it better, right at the start, to put your cards on the table? To tell the teacher the very first day wherein your child lacks, so that she will be able to work intelligently? Not that I would have a mother recite a long tale of woe about the misdoings of her child, but that she give the teacher important information, lacking which the teacher is likely to make mistake that will take much time and trouble to undo.

Suppose the child does not hear in one ear? Tell the teacher that, and she will seat him so that she can make sure he hears her. If his eyes are bad, tell the teacher know it and advise her on what you think would help.

If a child has a peculiar habit that the teacher may misunderstand, tell her about it. One little girl has a most unhappy time because the teacher did not know that the twitch of her mouth with the accompanying grin was a nervous affliction that gave worse upon close scrutiny and almost disappeared when the child felt she was not observed.

If the child has a fear of a pronounced sort, tell the teacher about it. Some children scream when a song rings unless they have been warned and trained to it.

Others are afraid of the shadows on the glass partitions and still others are frightened at finding themselves standing alone. Some won't touch tar and others fear feathers. Some are afraid of men and others of dark women.

Whatever the peculiar fear, tell the teacher so she may understand and protect the child.

As to his ordinary faults, keep them to yourself. You'll be telling no news to the teacher. She knows all about ordinary things like sauciness, laziness, carelessness, disobedience, fibbing and soiling clothes. She will work to correct him routine things day by day.

But the personal defects that you try to hide, tell her those. By the time she finds them out, for herself the damage has been done.

Teachers are like doctors and priests. They keep secrets. Try them and see!

TUESDAY CLUB PLANS FAR AHEAD

Ways and Means Committee Meets and Lays Out Program

Chairmen of the various committees of the Tuesday Afternoon Club met Wednesday afternoon in the tea room of the clubhouse, with Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman, for ways and means, presiding. Plans were made for a dinner party to be held at the club house on October 30, followed by a progressive entertainment at the homes of various members in the month. The Halloween idea is to be carried out. Club members will hold a short business session and brief program in the auditorium in the afternoon. This will be followed by a card party and dinner served at 6 o'clock in the banquet room. The dinner will be limited to 250.

After dinner there will be cards, dancing and other entertainment provided in the foothill homes. It was decided to charge admission to the Society Circus that is to be given November 16 and 17, each ticket giving an opportunity to win a Ford machine.

Mrs. T. H. Hudson was appointed to have charge of tickets for the Henry Cantor faraway concert to be held at the club auditorium on September 22.

Mrs. Montgomery announced that she had been offered the use of a large storeroom in the Robinson building at Central and Elk avenues for the rummage sale that is to be conducted by the club on October 1. Mrs. Ernest Barr has been appointed chairman of the committee on old clothes and other chairmen will be appointed later.

The matter of a series of eight lectures on current events, one to be given each month beginning in November, on such topics as the Italian question, the Ruhr as viewed by eminent statesmen, China and Japan, Mussolini and the Italian crisis, etc., by Miss Lillian Kirk for a season charge of 5 per person was brought up and R. Rittenhouse was appointed to make a canvass to see whether such a course would prove popular.

MAIDS, MATRONS ATTEND FASHION SHOW, PENDROY'S

In spite of the lowering weather, about 300 maids and matrons of Glendale presented themselves at the second floor of Pendroy's store Wednesday afternoon for the beautiful fashion show there provided and were given a special treat in a musical program in which Mrs. Virginia Freeman presented talented pupils.

Mrs. Gertrude sang "With a Wish" with Roberta Young at the piano. Mrs. R. A. Puffer, Jr., sang "Soft and Foolish Snow" and "Mah Linda Lou" with Mrs. Gertrude Champlain Erb at the piano.

One of the models, Miss Hazel de Vere of Los Angeles, also contributed vocal numbers, "I Wish I Knew" and "I Cried for You." Other models who are professional models employed at the Goldwyn and Fox studios were: Lyle Ayo, Mrs. Jane Shipman, Miss Kathleen Summers and Miss Mabelle Armstrong.

Mrs. Pendroy, as hostess of the occasion was everywhere greeting customers who have become friends and answering the questions of the very interested spectators who numbered about 300.

After the gowns for afternoon and evening wear had been charmingly presented, the models took their turn in exhibiting the season's wraps which are wonderfully attractive and at figures considerably lower than women have been in the habit of paying for garments not so rich in appearance. Almost without exception they are of the all-enveloping order reaching to the hem, the sleeves more closely fitting the arm until they reached the flare at the wrist. Most of them were fur trimmed.

Wide variety was afforded in materials, the sealine, plush, caracul, gerona and lustora cloths vying with imported English stripe and real camelhair garments which looked very swaggy.

The hats worn with these garments were simply fascinating examples of colored embroidery daringly applied to close toques and semi-cloque shapes. Chinille, silk, beads and gold and silver thread, and wool are all used in appliques, all-over embroidery and medallion ornaments with an artistic touch that we have not seen in millinery before for a long time. The makers must be getting a lot of joy out of their creations.

Hudson; May 21 and 28, Mrs. C. J. Newcomb and Mrs. S. C. Leppel; June 4 and 11, Mrs. Pomeroy and Mrs. John Hobbs. The curators of sections and members of the ways and means committee are to have charge of serving the Kiwanis Club luncheons.

George is the apple of his father's eye, and it would seem that he deserves to be. A little while ago a rough-looking individual called at the house, and when George answered his knock he grasped the little fellow by the collar.

"If yer don't tell me where yer father keeps his money," he growled, "I'll knock yer block off."

"Oh, please don't do that," whimpered George; "you'll find all the money we've got in an old waistcoat in the kitchen."

Two minutes later a brutal and battered wreck was heaved thru the front door of George's house. He sat for a while in the gutter and blinked.

"That kid's too smart—unnatural smart," he muttered. "Never said a word about 'is father been' inside the week!"

MAIN STREET OF TOKIO DEVASTATED BY EARTHQUAKE AND FLAMES

The Nihonbashi-Tori, main thoroughfare of the Japanese capital, is reported to be a mass of ruins. Buildings that were not demolished by the earth tremors were consumed by flames which were fed by gas escaping from broken mains.

BALDWIN SHIRT COMPANY MOST TWO YEARS OLD

The Baldwin Shirt Co. started its factory in Glendale with the opening of 1922 with a modest force of three operators. This was in the same location as now occupied, 1725 South Brand boulevard, in one of the rooms of the Gateway Market building. Since the present force numbers fourteen and will soon be increased. The development of the business has been very satisfactory and the eight salesmen now selling Baldwin shirts have made it necessary to increase the output. Additional machines and operators will be added at once and within sixty days the product of the plant will average three hundred shirts per week.

Baldwin shirts are all custom made—that is, made up to the individual measurements of the customer and sold to him direct. The idea is to give personal service and furnish a man with shirts that will fit him, with sleeves of the proper length, fitted around the neck and shoulders, not skimped up the body, and finished throughout in a first-class manner.

The Baldwin Shirt Co. started business in Baldwin, Kansas, in 1897, and was afterwards moved to Parsons, Kansas. From there salesmen were put in the California field but the distance was too great for prompt service so the field was canvassed for the location of a local factory. This was in the fall of 1921, when Geo. B. Karr first discovered there was such a place as Glendale—and immediately decided it was the proper thing to locate a rapidly growing business in a rapidly growing city.

This resulted in the removal to Glendale of the families of Mr. Karr and Mr. Ralph W. Dick, assistant manager of the plant. Since then four other families have moved from Parsons to Glendale that the former employees of the factory there might be employed in the one here. When the frequent visitor from Parsons stops to call at the Baldwin shirt factory now, it is a sort of small Kansas reunion, and something of the kind takes place at least once every week.

A full line of shirting materials of all kinds is carried in stock. Pattern selections are made by the customer from the goods on hand, or the salesmen's lines of samples and the shirts are made up to his measurements and sold direct to him. There are no "stock sizes" carried, only goods to be made up as ordered.

The company is being reorganized at this time so as to make it possible to take care of the rapidly growing business. The prospects for the future are bright, and in the coming year the company expects to spread out to sections that have not as yet been touched.

SUMMER HOME OF MUSSOLINI FAMOUS CASTLE

[By Associated Press]
ROME, Sept. 12.—The Castello of Sangallo, once the famous fortress and the property of the great Colonna family, has become the summer residence of the fascist premier, who comes to his office every morning by motor.

The medieval castle was owned by the Colonna family when their estates were confiscated by Alexander VI, in 1501. The Castello of Sangallo eventually came into possession of Lucrezia Borgia's daughter and her second husband, Alfonso of Aragon. Alexander VI added to the castle, but all of the property was later returned to the Colonna family.

Once again the Colonna family lost the Castello of Sangallo, but recovered it when the people of the district revolted in their favor. The castle was later sold to Clement VIII for 400,000 ducats and it remained in the possession of the church until 1831, when it was sold for the same price to the Borghese family. It became state property in 1870 and since then has passed into various hands and now is in sore need of repair.

Instead of the picturesque old Colonna servitors or Papal Guards, the castle is guarded by the fascist militia, dressed in black shirts, who extend the Roman salute to Mussolini as he enters and leaves the gates.

Rheumatic Neuritis

Says His Prescription Completely Banishes All Rheumatic Pain and Twinges Is Guaranteed.

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-Four Hours.

Every druggist in this country is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of ALLENRHU, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment. ALLENRHU has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiful and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of ALLENRHU, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless ALLENRHU decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance.

No Other Cream Can do what Youth Cream did for me

By EDNA WALLACE HOPPER

I found in France some years ago the finest cold cream in existence. I went there to seek it, talked with scientists, with beauty experts and with beauties. And they all agreed that this cream was supreme.

Since then I have used it every night. Also every morning as a powder base. Used it to foster the skin texture, to protect it against time and weather.

Now millions wonder at my marvellous complexion. It is envied by girls in their teens. Yet I have been for 40 years in the limelight, and been for 32 years a stage star.

Contains two fruits.
By countless requests I am having this cream prepared for all who wish it. I call it my Youth Cream.

It also embodies the best that science knows to soften, whiten, feed and smooth the skin.

My friends on the stage employ it. Even in the costliest creams they have found nothing to compare. I have supplied it to famous beauty experts, and they tell me the same about it. My own results confirm them. So I believe that here is a matchless help which millions of women should have. And I shall help them get it.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream is now supplied by all druggists and toilet counters at 60c per jar. Also my Facial Youth—my famous "liquid cleanser." Also my White Youth Clay. Also my Hair Youth, to which I owe my heavy, lustrous hair. My Beauty Book comes with each.

Compare my Youth Cream with the cold creams that you know. If the first jar fails to delight you, your dealer will return its price. If it does for you what it does for me, you will ever thank me.—Edna Wallace Hopper, Business Address, Waukegan, Wis.—Advt.

FEDERATION P. T. A. HAS INFORMAL MEETING

It Was Get - Together
Gathering Preparatory to October Meet

The first session of the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teachers' associations for the 1923-24 season was held at the Wilson avenue Intermediate school on Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. E. B. Moore presiding, and was in the nature of an informal get-together gathering, preparatory to the October meeting.

The following committee chairmen are to serve during the year: Mrs. C. H. Ambrosch, education; Mrs. W. Crawford, membership; Mrs. L. T. Rowley, philanthropy; Mrs. E. S. McKee, finance; Mrs. P. A. Olfson, kindergarten; Mrs. George H. Moore, patriotism; Mrs. Hartley Shaw, juvenile court; Mrs. Vierick, visiting; Miss Eva Daniels, publicity; Mrs. Wm. Alexander, emblems and magazines; Mrs. Grant, courtesy; Normal Hayhurst, playgrounds; Dr. Jessie Russell, legislature; Miss Woodruff, thrift; Mrs. H. V. Henry, program; Mrs. Sawyer, child hygiene; Mrs. A. H. Brown, parliamentarian; Mrs. B. L. China, scholarship; R. D. White, community life; Mrs. M. B. Buchanan, better films.

The meeting opened with the salute to the flag led by Mrs. George H. Moore, followed by the reading of the minutes by Mrs. Emil Johnson. Mrs. A. H. Brown was authorized to secure the typing of copies of the Glendale Federation constitution for distribution to the various associations.

Mrs. E. B. Moore brought up the matter of the annual teachers' welcome. The date of this is to be left with the courtesy chairman, Mrs. Grant, who is to confer with the presidents of the High School Teachers' club and the Grammar School Teachers' club. The presidents of the various associations are to report their various committee chairmen to the federation chairman in order that their work may be outlined for the year.

As the constitution of the federation calls for the provision of an executive committee of five to handle any urgent matters that must be taken care of between times of the regular meetings, Mrs. A. H. Brown, Mrs. S. L. Gillan and Mrs. W. A. Kulp were appointed to serve with the president and recording secretary on that committee.

The officers of the Glendale Federation are Mrs. E. B. Moore, president; Mrs. F. S. McKee, vice-president; Mrs. Emil Johnson, recording secretary; Mrs. W. A. Kulp, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Florence Winterskill, treasurer; Mrs. D. F. Reichard, historian; and Mrs. G. L. Berryman, auditor.

There was a good representation of members of the Federation present at yesterday's meeting, all of whom were called upon to introduce themselves and state which school they represented or on which committee they were serving.

Mrs. A. H. Brown announced that a "beginner" class in parliamentary law, to meet either in the mornings or afternoons, is being notified and asked that anyone interested in becoming a member of such a class should get in touch with her.

Miss Eva Daniels, chairman of the publicity committee, thanked the Glendale papers for their generous support in P. T. A. matters and urged that they be given the preference for printing work for the Federation.

Truth and honesty have but little in common with diplomacy.

WHY HE FELT WEARY

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.
(Copyright, 1923, by The Associated Newspapers)

He had gone to his physician complaining of sundry unpleasant symptoms. Chief among these was a persistent feeling of tiredness.

"For some reason which I cannot understand," he narrated, "I seem to have lost all energy. It is an effort for me to do anything. I go to bed exhausted and I wake exhausted."

"Also I seem to have lost all interest in life. I eat, but without any real desire to do so. Reading, which I used to enjoy, now bores me. Everything bores me. But the thing that troubles me most of all is the tiredness. I cannot account for it and I assuredly want to be rid of it."

The physician unfortunately could not account for it either, test and examine as he might. So he handed his patient over to a neurologist.

The latter, applying still more rigid tests, was equally unable to link the tired feeling with any condition of bodily disease. The sufferer, a vigorous-looking young man, was organically as sound as any vigorous-looking young man could desire to be.

"You are evidently in what is known as an anhedonic state," the neurologist told him, "and as often as not that is due to a distinctly mental cause. Have you been worrying much about anything?"

No, the patient made answer, he had not been worrying about anything. To this answer he adhered, until subjected to a searching probe of a psychological cross-examination.

Now an interesting discovery was made. The tiredness, it developed, has first set in coincident with the refusal of the patient's employer to give him a promotion on which he had set his heart. Another man had been chosen for the higher place.

"Looking back," he admitted, "I can see that it was then that life began to seem futile to me, work a task beyond my powers, and play as tiring and unsatisfying as work. I suppose my failure to gain the promotion on which I had been counting acted as a nervous shock."

"That partly is the explanation," the neurologist conceded. "But we have also to explain why you should react so badly to what is after all an everyday occurrence. Plenty of men have similar disappointments without becoming anhedonic."

"It is possible that through indiscretions of one kind or another, you had made ready the way for the anhedonic collapse occasioned by the disappointment. Also it is possible that you had predisposed yourself to it by a faulty attitude toward your work."

"If you had no real interest in that work, if you were working only for a money return, it is easy to understand why life lost its savor to you and fatigue overwhelmed you when your hope of promotion was frustrated. You yourself best know your true attitude to your work. I advise you to give some thought to that."

"Also I advise you to ask for a short leave of absence, go to the country, live outdoors, exercise daily. A break in your routine will in itself help you to make the psychic readjustment which I suspect you chiefly need to make."

There are many, many habitually tired, habitually bored men whose cases call for advice similar to this.

Workers who hunger above all else for promotion and more pay, workers to whom their work has but a dollar value, are peculiarly likely to lose energy and zest when any great disappointment comes to them. Their one sure hope of cure is then the gaining of a better philosophy of life, supplemented perhaps by physical rebuilding.

SMART FRENCH HAT

Exceedingly new and smart is a French hat of black velvet with a soft crown. The hat is faced with tiny frills of Valenciennes lace and trimmed with lacquered ribbon tied in a large bow at the side.

Those who associate daily with the great are not so deeply impressed, perhaps, as others.

A young man with a message for a magnate was compelled to wait twenty minutes in the outer office. The magnate wasn't doing anything, and the messenger knew it. Finally he was admitted and welcomed with a frown.

"Well, sir, what is it? Time is money, time is money."
"I have here a card from my boss, Mr. Gottalot. He wants you to squander about $3000 worth on the golf links this afternoon."

NITA NALDI SAYS CLEOPATRA WAS GOURMAND VAMP

There have been various opinions on the vamping methods of Cleopatra. Historians do not seem to agree on just how the famous vamp captured the men. Nita Naldi, one of the best known screen vamps who plays the part of Cleopatra in a prologue for Allan Dwan's Paramount production of "Lawful Larceny," which will be the feature at the T. D. & L. theater for the last times today, has opinions of her own on the subject. And, why shouldn't one vamp's idea be just as good as any historian's opinion?

According to Miss Naldi, Cleopatra was probably a voluptuous, red-haired woman who had a marvelous cook and a good wine cellar. "The fact that she spoke sixteen languages is not what fascinated Antony," explained Miss Naldi, "but the good spaghetti and the wine she served at her table did. You cannot make me believe that men fall entirely for the intellectual attainments of a woman. There is something in the old adage that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach."

WE WOMEN

By BETTY BRAINERD

DEATH AND GLORY

A month and two days ago today Warren Gamaliel Harding died with his devoted wife beside him administering to his slightest desire. Always by his side, it was fitting that hers should be the last voice he heard before he started on his long journey. Women, I think, suffer in that high public office brings out the fine qualities in a man and reveals them to all the world. Comparatively few women hold office nowadays. In time, of course, this will be changed. In the meanwhile, we are at a disadvantage. We live practically in anonymity except so far as our immediate friends are concerned.

The sweet, gentle nature of President Harding was never appreciated as when he died. Then a tremendous wave of affection swept the country in the sorrow of his death, yet in life he was no different.

To me he possessed the golden humility of Lincoln, the patience and tolerance of a modern Socratic philosopher who performed the duties of the highest position in the land with the simple, unaffected, almost sanctified dignity of a truly understanding soul.

To die and have the world appreciate a man as such is to die a glorious death. This is a goal to which we would all aspire, but for women the goal is far removed. The approbation, the tears and sighs of our friends and families are all that we can expect.

I do not mean to complain. I simply state it as a fact. I simply mean to point out a curious effect of the manner in which our political machine works. Women are not glorified in the service of the state; in the limited sphere of our homes and friends, yes.

However, women's place is no longer in the home. In time perhaps we may look beyond death in life and visualize the certainty that after death people outside the sphere of our families and friends will pay us that earned "tribute of a sigh that isn't a sob."

FINAL CALL FOR MICHIGAN PICNIC

Dr. M. R. Parmelee, president of the Michigan association of Southern California is issuing this final call for all Michigan people to rally for the mammoth fall picnic in Sycamore grove park, Los Angeles. All day Saturday, September 15. All the usual picnic features will be carried out and all Wolverines are invited. President Parmelee will preside and the famous cornetist, Dr. Ed M. Miner will be on hand.

During a recent chat with the editor of an eastern newspaper, Tom Mix, the William Fox star, told how he happened to break into the movies.

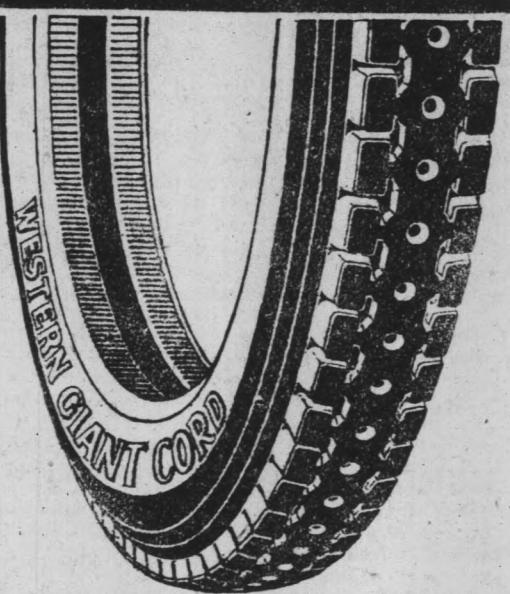

"As a boy in the southwest I saw Buffalo Bill do sharpshooting in the circus ring. I was a crack shot for a youngster and on getting home I tried shooting glass balls from the top of my little sister's head. Dad arrived as I tried to get the woodshed range, against which stood sister. You should have heard dad broadcast his heir from the shed."

"When I broke into movies I was a cowpuncher getting $40 a month. When they offered me $100, I thought they meant a month instead of a week. But I'll always attribute my success to Buffalo Bill's inspiration."

Mix is at the Glendale again today in Zane Grey's "The Lone Star Ranger," which William Fox has adapted to the screen.

CITY PLAYERS AS DEVELOPMENT OF NEW SERVICE

Membership Open to All Citizens to Rehearse for Winter Production

All lovers of the drama and dance, of the spoken and the singing word, are invited to co-operate with the Community Players of Glendale by joining this organization. The membership is open to all men and women. The dues are $2 per year. The first rehearsals after summer vacation were held on Monday evening, September 3, at 7:30 o'clock, at the residence of the director, Mrs. Nanno Woods. The next production to be given by the Glendale Community Players will be "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," to be staged the latter part of August.

There is need of a good stage manager who will volunteer his services and also a few young men are needed as stage hands. In "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" the part of Miss Hazy will be played by Mrs. Fannie Yantis Stockbridge, who has graciously offered to take this part in which she formerly scored such a great success with the Morisco company. Mrs. L. Bradley will be seen as Mrs. Wiggs and the comic character of Mrs. Schultz will be depicted by Mrs. Edith Holway. Special scenery will be built for this production, which promises to be one of the finest theatrical shows ever given in Glendale.

The Glendale Community Players were organized in the fall of last year and have produced two plays of considerable merit and beauty—

TUESDAY CLUB IS URGED TO ACCEPT BOK PEACE OFFER

In a letter which Mrs. Daniel Campbell, as president of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, has received from Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the club is urged to take advantage of the offer of Edward Bok in the carrying out of the federation slogan of "World Peace."

This offer on the part of Mr. Bok is a prize of $100,000 for the best plan by which the United States may co-operate with other nations to achieve and preserve the peace of the world. Four subsidiary prizes of $5000 each are offered for any plan or portions of plans used by the jury of awards.

Mrs. Winter calls attention to the fact that the federation has been working for world peace and suggests that here is an opening in line with that work. Manuscripts must be received by 12 o'clock midnight November 15, 1923, by the jury of awards.

Full particulars can be secured by calling upon Mrs. Barton, social secretary of the Tuesday Club, who has the circulars giving details.

"The Hand of the Prophet," an Arabian love story, and "The Fun Revue," a musical comedy which would have done credit to any professional stage. The officers of Community Players are: Hugh Blue, president; Steven Huntington, vice-president; Dorothy Morton, secretary; L. T. Bradley, treasurer; A. E. McCoubrey, business manager; Mrs. Nanno Woods, director. The official address is 122 West Milford street, Glendale. Phone Glendale 394.

We often wonder what has become of all the men who were going to make millions out of inventions they once patented.

GERMANS VERY ANXIOUS OVER CROP PROSPECTS

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—Germany's food situation has reached what was called the "bagman" stage in the Russian collapse. City folks must now travel to the country and get their foodstuffs, unless they want to pay the extortionate prices asked by food speculators.

Suburban trains are crowded by men and women carrying vegetables, milk, butter, meat and other supplies which local retailers in almost all German cities are unable to provide under present conditions. Farmers who have food supplies insist upon payment in foreign money. As retailers must sell for German paper marks, their business is at a standstill.

A well-dressed man who was walking along Unter den Linden carrying an expensive alligator case, found himself recently the center of an envious group when his case burst open and potatoes rolled out over Berlin's most fashionable boulevard.

Berlin householders are already beginning to seek their winter supply of vegetables, and food scouts are traveling throughout the potato districts making contracts for families. Field workers' strikes and a cold, rainy spring—the coldest, wettest spring in some 200 years—have materially affected Germany's 1923 harvest, which otherwise would have been about the average, according to reports from the agricultural districts.

Potatoes, one of Germany's chief foods, and in many families fully as important as meat and eggs and milk, were set back by the cold weather, and prospects for the late crop are not at all encouraging, the agriculturists report. Germany has been importing potatoes from Holland and other nearby countries for months in efforts to relieve the shortage.
